The Postdoctoral Psychotherapy Referral Service is a community service which has been committed to providing referrals for psychotherapy and psychoanalysis for over 30 years.

Following a phone consultation, a referral will be made to a psychologist in private practice who has expertise in treating your problem.

All participating psychologists are licensed and are graduates and /or faculty of the New York University Postdoctoral Program in Psychotherapy and Psychoanalysis.

Many of the practitioners have additional training in such areas as group, couples and family therapy as well as cognitive behavior therapy. Our therapists also have experience in working with gays, lesbians, single parents, and adolescents.
